The ticket is further strengthened by selection of Charles W. Fairbanks numines for vice president, thus king not only a combination of the the longest days of the year.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S DUTY.

The action of Colonel Roosevelt in efusing to accept the nomination from the progressive party may cause some surprise both in and out of that party but it is nevertheless a sensible stand and one which will cause general satisfaction if he persists in that atti-

No one has spoken loudly against, or criticised more harshly the democratic administration that the ex-president. He understands as well as anyone else that it was made possible by the split which he caused in the republican party four years ago, and it is as plain as daylight that the plac-ing of a third ticket in the field this year will bring about similar re-sults, which are what he has so vehemently deplored and as a conscien-tious American ought not to want to

From the republican convention, if am the primaries and state conventions previously held, it has been shown that the Roosevelt candidacy did not meet with favor, and to attempt to take away the support which can be relied upon to go to Mr. Hughes would simply mean the placing of the tage with President Wilson. As nt of Americanism, the upof the country and the rigid g of American rights, this is which he cannot afford to which he ought never to taking. Such would simply undermining of what he decires to be his sincere regard for the nation's welfare. Mr. Roosevelt wanted the nomination from the republican convention. It has been clearly demonstrated that that is something which he could not get, but with a strong exponent of the principles for which he has been working nominated for the presidency the nominated for the presidency the set many hours of sleep now but if he is going to attempt to alter fashion he will have to do without any.

GREEK DEMOBILIZATION.

Though the allies have not succeeded in getting Greece to take aides with them and to throw its army into the conflagration which has involved nearly all Europe, they have been able to bring about a demobilization of the Greek army, or a large part of it, which thus makes their position at Salontki more secure. Whatever sympathy King Constantine may have for the central powers he has been for the central powers he has been for the central powers he has been forced to refrain from manifesting it too openly. His ties of kinship have placed him in a peculiar position and even led to the abandonment of the treaty with Servia which required his country to go to the assistance of his neighbor in case it was attacked. He has even done his utmost to restrain the allies in the landing of forces on his shores, but his attitude has been in marked contrast to that of a large part of his people and some of the Greek leaders.

Greece has however been dependen to a larger extent upon Great Britain. If it was going to make a decision and participate actively in the war it would be obligated to side with the alies. King Constantine even looks to them in a large degree for support At the present time not a little pres-sure has been brought to bear upon that country by the shutting off of its supplies and this pacific blockade has now resulted in the Greek demobilization. With the Greek army only partly mobilized the allies have over-come the uncertainty which surrounds its activity. Knowing that it is not with them, the fact that it is not ready for service means that it to a certain degree cannot be against them and its neutrality is therefore of the kind which makes the position of the allies in that quarter more favorable

AUTO INDUSTRY HAS PROFITED. While the automobile industry was indergoing steady development in this ountry previous to the opening of the war, and a good sized export trade had been established, the struggle in had been established, the struggle in Europe has given it one of the biggest boosts that it has ever received. There were demands across the water by the belliserents for motor cars which the factories of that country could not supply and the result has been that $165,000,000$ worth of machines, parts, tires and engines were exported during the first 19 months of the war. It is true that some of this business was with neutral countries, which looked to the United States when others ceased to fill export orders, but fourfiths of this increase was destined to the belligerent nations, either for the purposes of war, or to fill the other needs which local industry could not take care of because of demands in other directions.

This war more than any other has witnessed the greatest utilization of the automobile for all kinds of uses.

Not only has it been used for commandant purposes the transportation. Europe has given it one of the biggest

A woodbox in the kitchen should not be to low. It is a good idea to have the lower part of the box a drawer, in which such things as stove polish, etc., are kept. If the front of the box is made to let down on hinges, it can be cleaned out more easily.

Purchase a few tin spoons, bend the handles double about an inch from the end. This will make them shorter and stiffer. Put one in each of the cans of soda, baking powder and all other ingredients that are measured by spoonfuls and see how convenient it will be.

When the throat feels raw, half four gargling periods, using warm salt water, are advised. This is an antiseptic and removes the irritation. Again equal parts of listerine, water and peroxide is even more effective.

Quick action should be taken when a rusty nall or other metallic points cause a wound. These should be treated with frequent aplications of peroxide of hydrogen. Failing this, wash the wound with boracic acid. Be sure to extract all the blood that is possible and any foreign substance. Keep the wound open to permit swabbing out. For this purpose use medicated cotton, that is obtained in packages from 5 cents to a dollar in various sizes.

Fresh air is as necessary to the tealth of the hair as it is to the health Some candidates now realize that of the lungs. The woman who is not they have just about as much chance guided by this truth has hair which, they have just about as much chance of reaching the South Pole as they had to get the presidential nomination.

If the progressive national committee has any question about enforcing Hughes the action which promises to be taken this week at St. Louis ought to settle the matter.

Suided by this truth has hair which, its a rule is "matted down" and of an unattractive shade. The outdoor girl, whose coiffure is blown about by the wind, usually has a head of hair that is full of life and vigor and its coloring is fine. Fresh air and plenty of brushing with the shampoo and gentle massaging of the scalp, will often make "sickly" hair healthy.

TO REMOVE STOPPERS.

WASHING PINK SILK LINGERIE.

Pink has proven itself so much more durable than pale blue that the latter is now rarely seen among the shades of wash silks used for the more intimate garments in which my lady of luxury loves to clothe herself. Even pink will fade after repeated washings, by unsidiful hands, and it does not pay to trust expensive nighties and combinations to irreverent treatment by the family washiady unless one has money enough to replenish frequently.

There is no reason, however, that one should not select pink silk, for under proper care it holds its color excellently, and if it does not, the color may be restored by scaking a sheet of pink tissue paper in the water used for washing the pink garments. The dye from the paper restores the delicate pink tint to the silk immediately, and the tissue paper is so inexpensive that it is not a costly process.

SMART COLLARS.

The neck line is like the waist line, no longer a stationary thing. From Paris comes a high collar of black taffeta tied in the back with a flaring bow and falling over it a circular collar of white organdy—the whole a smart little conceit which is especially becoming to the tail, slender woman. High collars are not easy to wear, but they are smart. but they are smart.

TO REPAIR SCREENS.

The neatest way to mend a screen is to cut a piece of wire netting about three inches larger than the hole. Remove the wires around the edge of the patch for half an inch or more, like drawing away the threads from a piece of linen. Bend the resulting pronge at right angles and fit the patch in place with the wire ends patch in place with the wire ends sticking through the screen. Press the patch flat against the larger surface, then on the other side press the ends back to their original position. This secures the patch.

It does not seem to be possible to have a foulard gown without a touch of organdy; the continued reign of this fabric is astonishing the dress-makers, and it shows no sign of decrease. It is not only used for collar and cuffs, but in combination with all kinds of silks in the afternoon and even in evening gowns. It is conall kinds of silks in the afternoon and even in evening gowns. It is considered the very smart thing to be added to taffeta frocks for the street. An especially good black taffeta gown has the entire top part of the bodks and the sleaves made of white organdy, with a small bow of black taffets in front of the collar and a wristlet of the same boiding in the full white sleaves. There are two bands of organdy going around the figure, introduced into the black ekirt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wants Light on City Financing., Mr. Editor: In the estimated ex-enses of the city for the year ending day 17, 1917, as prepared by the democratic finance committee, there appears the following items, viz: Financial department special promissory note 5 per cent., dated Dec. 24 1812, $10,000; promissory note 5 per cent., dated April 30, 1914, $10,000. Would it not have been good business to have presented this indebtedness to the taxpayers in the budgets of 1913-14 taxpayers in the budgets of 1913-14 and 15 as temporary loans, and let them dispose of them as they saw fit? On these notes we will have paid before any adjustment can be made, approximately $3,000 in interest. Now in their estimated receipts they say: From general sinking fund to pay notes of Dec. 24, 1912 and April 30, 1914. May I ask are they the ones to say how these notes are to be paid. OTHER VIEW POINTS

Senator Harding's so-called "keynote speech" contained many neat little allusions to the Democracy. For example, he said that the Republicans made a rational response to the call for army preparedness, but Democratic insufficiency and inefficiency are recorded in the conference-amended act, and a federal nitrate plant to supply powder to the patriots and pap to the paternalists and federal fertilizer to the farmers in competition with private enterprise is the great constructive offering of a Democratic majority." These first two words, insufficiency and inefficiency, tell the story of Democracy in the last three years, in almost every phase, —Waterbury American.

NOT MUCH FUN TO IT

DO YOU enjoy carrying a pail of coal? Is there any fun in sifting the ashes?

Can anyone get any enjoyment out of cooking a meal in a roasting hot kitchen?

In the smothering heat of the Summer is there any pleasure in constantly living in coal dust, coal smoke. and rub, rub and scour from morning till night?

Does anyone really love hard work as well as that? Don't we all like to take life easy and make it as comfortable as possible?

There is only one way to do that-banish the coal stove and all the drudgery and hard work goes with it. Then bring in the GAS RANGE and with it some comfort and economy, for not only is gas more convenient than coal but it costs less to operate.
